Experience

Web Programmer   LinkUp
June 2019 - January 2020 • Minneapolis, MN
- Collect, clean and update their databases of job market data.
- The services I built using web scraping and APIs are used daily and the company relies on them for gathering data they can sell.
- While building these services I created reliable code templates that the current employees use every day
- I also researched companies to find new job market data sectors. In addition to my work in data management
